

You're invited to a
Peer-led dinner

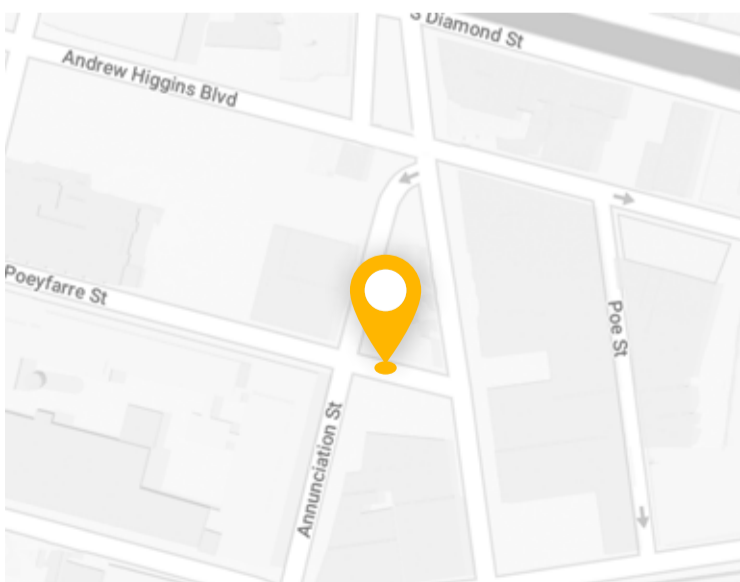

Discussions led by:

Dr. James Gould, Dr. Michael Kaplan

Advanced procedures (office and beyond)— local vs IV sedation, revisions, challenging cases

Office-based sinus procedures have come a long way from the initial typical standalone balloon dilation cases. Gather to discuss what is new now, from IV sedation to advanced techniques, and hear approaches and best practices to take your office practice to the next level.

RSVP: Contact your local representative

When:

Saturday, September 14
7:00pm

Where:

Annunciation
1016 Annunciation St
New Orleans, LA 70130

Add to calendar

You're invited to a
Peer-led dinner

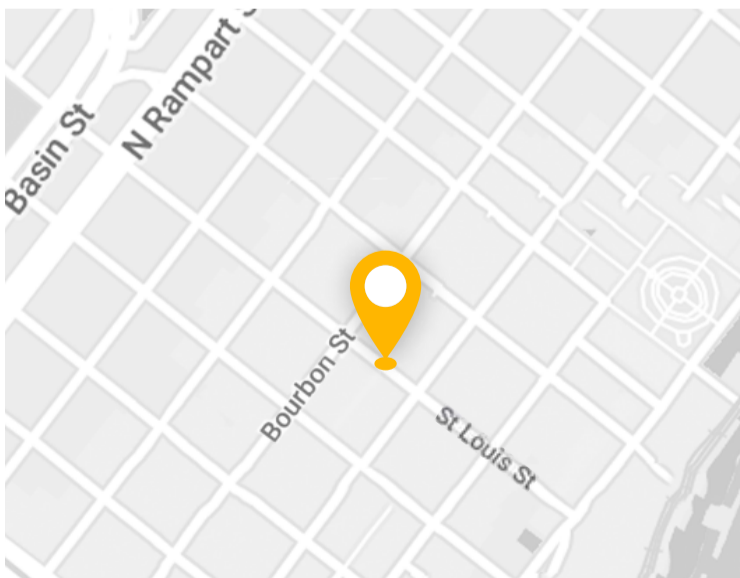

Discussions led by:

Dr. David Brodner, Dr. Scott Fortune

IGS & TGS—maximizing safety and efficacy

ENT is currently experiencing an innovation boom, including the introduction of advanced navigation systems that strive to help you make surgery more predictable and safer. Join this dinner to hear about recent innovations, including building block planning tools, helping to redefine approaches to complex surgery.

RSVP: Contact your local representative

When:

Saturday, September 14
7:00pm

Where:

Antoine's Restaurant
713 Rue Saint Louis
New Orleans, LA 70130

Add to calendar

You're invited to a
Peer-led dinner

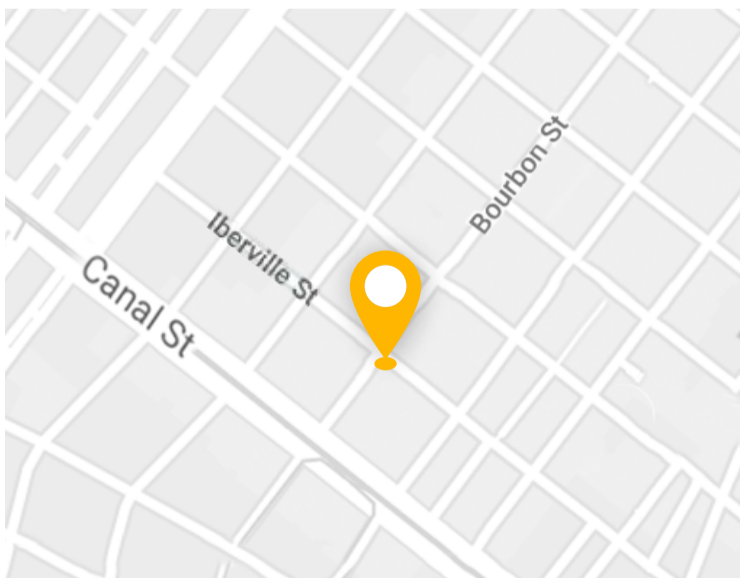

Discussions led by:

Dr. Jeffrey Feinfield, Dr. Glenn Waldman

Nasal valve collapse—a real problem

Nasal airway obstruction is like the start of a Tolstoy novel – all people without nasal airway obstruction are the same, but all with NAO are unhappy in their own way. Explore approaches to NAO, including how and when to address the third part of the NAO triangle, nasal valve collapse.

RSVP: Contact your local representative

When:

Saturday, September 14
7:00pm

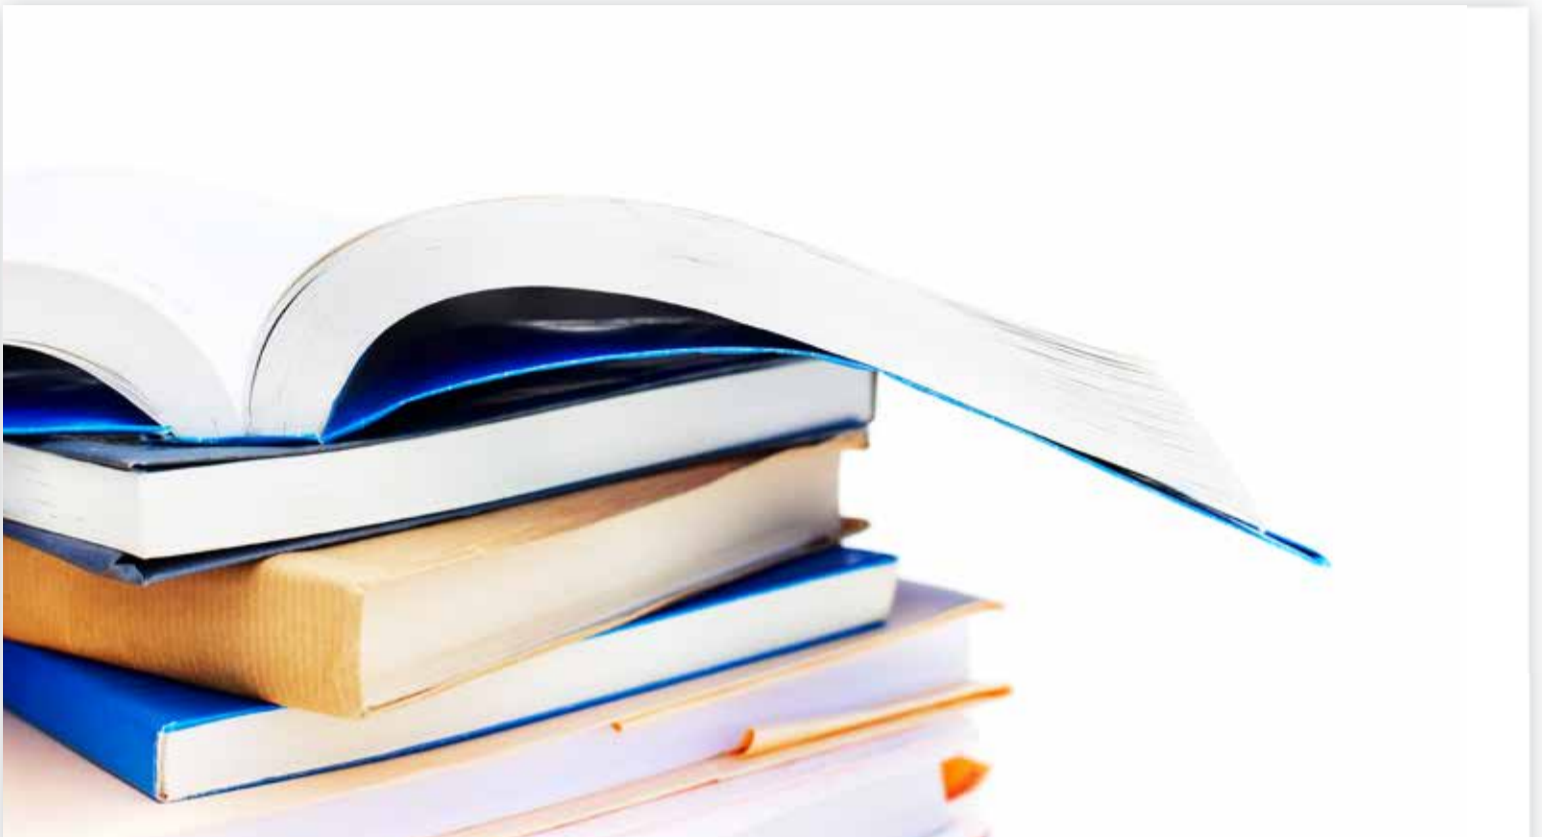

Where:

Bourbon House
144 Bourbon St
New Orleans, LA 70130

Add to calendar

You're invited to a
Peer-led dinner

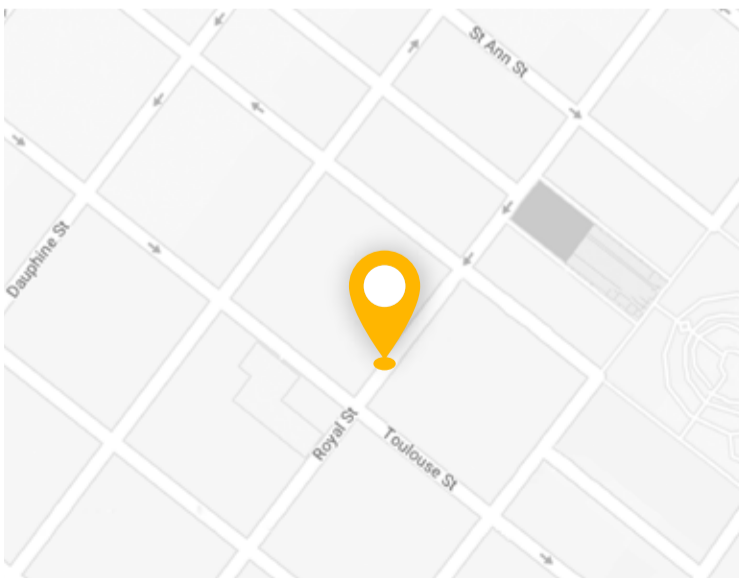

Discussions led by:

Dr. Josh Greene, Dr. Andrew Wells,
Dr. Robert Standing

The realities of ENT practice—a discussion for residents

There are a variety of ways to be an ENT today – from academic to hospital employed to small practice. As you begin to consider what comes next, hear from colleagues who have chosen distinct paths, weigh pros and cons, and know what questions you need to ask yourself as you map your future.

RSVP: Contact your local representative

When:

Saturday, September 14
7:00pm

Where:

Court of Two Sisters
613 Royal St
New Orleans, LA 70130

Add to calendar

You're invited to a
Peer-led dinner

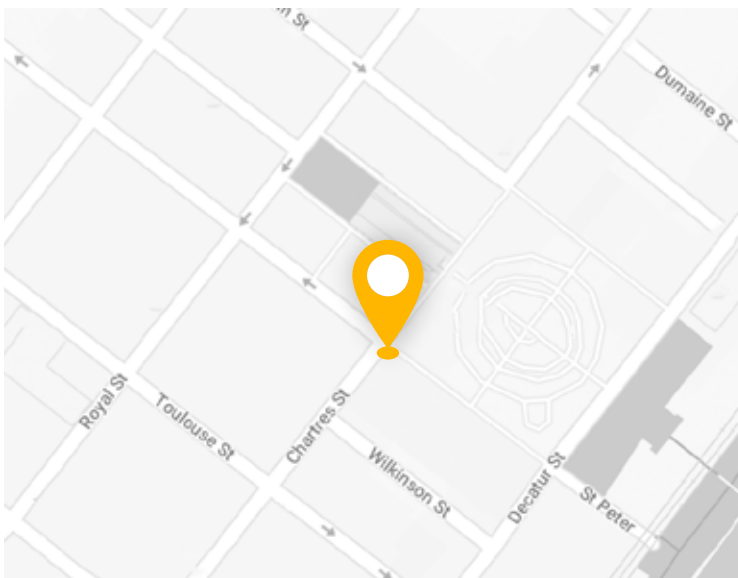

Discussions led by:

Dr. David Yen, Dr. Brian Weeks,
Dr. Randall Ow

Addressing chronic rhinitis—past, present and future

Sell your Kleenex stock! Historically, chronic rhinitis has posed challenges to both patients and the ENTs who treat them. At this dinner, explore approaches to addressing this complex condition with colleagues, learn about emerging options, and consider what the care of CR will look like in five years.

RSVP: Contact your local representative

When:

Sunday, September 15
7:00pm

Where:

Tableau
616 St Peter
New Orleans, LA 70116

Add to calendar

You're invited to a
Peer-led dinner

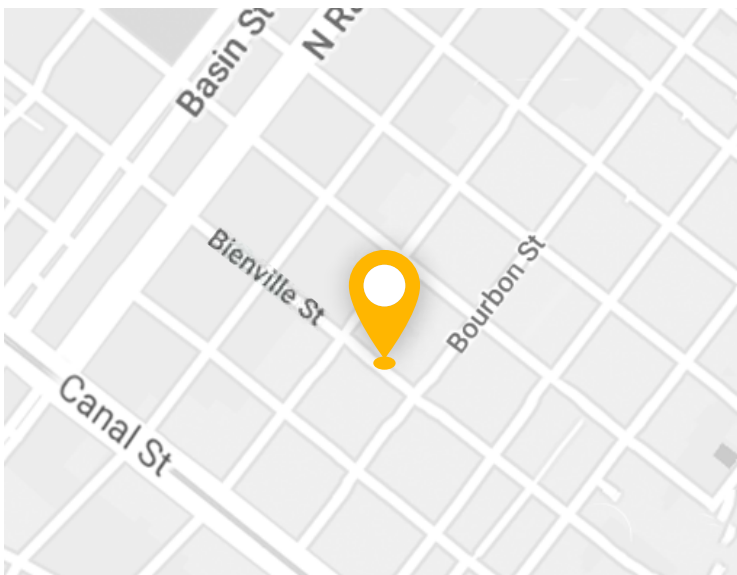

Discussions led by:

Dr. Jivianne Lee, Dr. Robert Standring

Eustachian tube balloon dilation—who is it for?

Clinical literature has shown a role for balloon dilation in treating patients with Eustachian tube dysfunction. But which patients are most likely to benefit from this emerging treatment option? Explore that question with your colleagues in this engaging dinner conversation.

RSVP: Contact your local representative

When:

Sunday, September 15
7:00pm

Where:

Arnaud's
813 Rue Bienville
New Orleans, LA 70112

Add to calendar

You're invited to a
Peer-led dinner

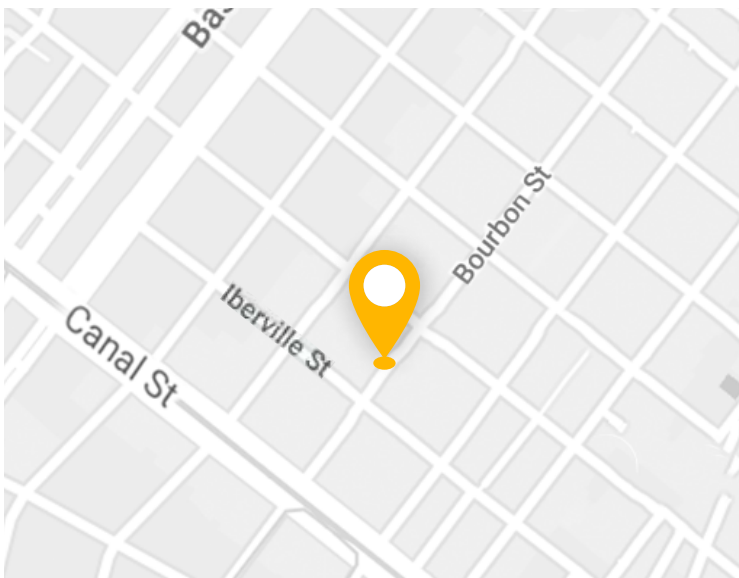

Discussions led by:

Dr. Scott Fortune, Dr. Lee Bryant,
Dr. Manish Wani

Frontal anatomy—cracking the code

As Winston Churchill might have said, frontal anatomy is a riddle, wrapped in a mystery, inside an enigma, but perhaps there is a key. Come together with a varied group of practitioners as they share how they unlock the frontals of their patients, and how their process inflects their surgical plan and approach

RSVP: Contact your local representative

When:

Sunday, September 15
7:00pm

Where:

Galatoire's
209 Bourbon St
New Orleans, LA 70130

Add to calendar

You're invited to a
Peer-led dinner

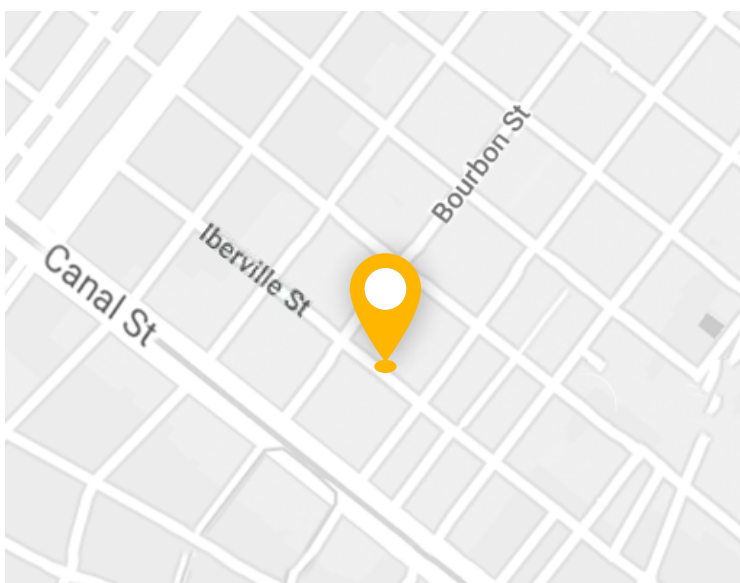

Discussions led by:

Dr. Andrew Wells, Dr. Josh Greene,
Dr. Nora Perkins

Practicing physicians—the changing realities of ENT practice

ENT is changing. Innovation is introducing new treatment options. Practice economics continue to evolve. From small boutique practices, to large, consolidated big group practices, innovation in technology is being met with equal creativity on the business side. Gather together with colleagues to discuss the dynamics pushing ENT in new directions, what's next, and share your best guess at what the practice of ENT will look like in 10 years.

RSVP: Contact your local representative

When:

Sunday, September 15
7:00pm

Where:

Dickie Brennan's Steakhouse
716 Iberville St
New Orleans, LA 70130

Add to calendar